MERRY GO ROUND ride for Fiesta Dream Girl Vivian Rieger of Daly City and Princess Joann Aguilar, Miss South San Francisco, provided breather for pair during official activities at San Mateo County Fair, which will continue through Saturday.

Cities in N. County Honored At Annual Run of Fiesta

Daly City was featured at the 32nd annual San Mateo County Fair and Floral Fiesta yesterday. Lovely Vivian Rieger, Fiesta Dream Girl and Miss Daly City, and local civic leaders were honored in Fiesta Bowl ceremonies.

On today's bill is the opening performance of the Lennon Sisters, pretty and talented stars of Lawrence Welk's television program. They will sing at 4 and 9 p.m. daily through Friday.

South San Francisco Day at the Fair was Saturday; tomorrow's Fiesta honors San Bruno and Saturday's, Pacificia.

Record crowds have been reported daily and are expected to continue through Saturday, last day of the nine-day festival.

As always, the Floral Fiesta has been acclaimed one of the finest in the West. Heading the amateur division is Mrs. William Beaumont of Pacifica. Helping her are John Fern of Daly City, a member of the Potted Plant Committee; Mrs. Charles Kunz of San Bruno, a member of the Artistic Arrangements Committee; and Pacificans Mrs. Richard Moody, chairman of the Cut Flowers Committee and Mrs. Wesley Hills, member of the Junior Division Committee.

The outdoor garden display entered by the Garden Club of Daly City took second place honors in its division and the display by the Pacifica Flower Friends garnered a first. Both have been popular Fiesta attractions.

For more than 50 North County 4-H'ers, tomorrow brings the highlight of the Fiesta—the Junior Livestock Auction. Among those hoping for high bids on their hand-raised animals are four Daly City youngsters, Darrell Read, Greg and Michael Solari and Robert Taevizo.

Daly City and North County housewives and 4-H'ers are hoping for blue ribbons for their bread, baked goods, sewing and other entries in the Home Arts competition.

Another popular attraction has been the Art and Photography Shows, featuring for the first time this year crafts and nightly projection of color slides.

Of course, no fair is complete without clowns and carnivals. Lupo the Clown and the Stiltman have both been collecting a string of youngsters since the Fair opened its gates Friday night and today is proving to be no exception. Monday and Tuesday's Kids' Days drew an especially large contingent of youngsters.

Admission for children under 12 is just a quarter, with toddlers small enough to go under the turnstile admitted free if accompanied by their parents. Adult admission is $1.50. Teenage students showing student body cards receive a special 50-cent rate.

While screams and shrieks have been emanating from the spectacular carnival roller coasters, ferris wheels and thriller rides, happy gurgles have been the sounds heard from the Kiddieland rides. The carnival offers a variety of both rides as well as fairway games and concessions.

Fiesta horse racing at the adjacent Bay Meadows Race Track continues to feature trotters, quarter horses and thoroughbreds in daily races beginning at 1 p.m. Supervising Fiesta racing is Racing Director A. G. Gaggero of Daly City.

Performing with the Lennon Sisters in the Fiesta Bowl today through Friday are the Harris Nelson Family, magic by Ermando & Co., the Ray Hackett Orchestra and the Mason-Kahn Dancers.

Permit Denied, Suit Possible

Brunans Oppose Station

Objections Are Heard

The San Bruno City Council rejection Monday of a use permit for a gasoline station in the Pacific Heights area may result in a suit being filed against that city by the Humble Oil Company.

Forden Athearn, attorney for the company, told The Times following the hotly debated issue, he will recommend a suit be filed in the Superior Court of San Mateo asking the council's decision be reversed.

During the public hearing residents of the Pacific Heights area voiced strong opposition to the Planning Commission's earlier decision granting a permit for a service station at Skyline Boulevard, College Drive and Susan Drive—an R-1 zone.

"The station will permit more traffic to come into an already deadly intersection," Mrs. Carolyn Livingood, vice president of the Pacific Heights Association pointed out during the applause-punctuated meeting. "With six acres of land still open at the nearby (Skyline) shopping center, we can't understand

Neighbors Delay Plans for D.C. Billiard Parlor

A surprise petition from 17 neighbors put a halt—temporarily at least—to Mike J. Orlando's plans for a billiard parlor in Daly City last night.

The petition, handed to Clerk Anna Ohlendorf shortly before the regular City Council meeting, was signed by 16 tenants and property owners on Junipero Serra Boulevard and one on Knowles Avenue. The establishment would be at the southeast corner of those streets.

The objections were succinctly stated.

"There is no parking for patrons without encroaching on other people's property," the petition said. "Bad environment will create a nuisance.

None of those objecting had been at a public hearing held by the planning commission last month, at which Orlando and his attorney explained the operation they hope to begin.

At that time, it was noted that Orlando has operated other billiard parlors. He said he planned six tables, and estimated that 75 per cent of his business would be in the evening, when customer parking would not present a serious problem.

Planning commissioners, satisfied, approved the application for the parlor and an on-sale beer license, and recommended council approval.

Because of the unexpected opposition, councilmen set their own public hearing on the application for 8 p.m. August 22.

D.C. Policemen Are Commended

Three Daly City police officers received commendations from Captain David Hansen Tuesday for their part in averting what might have turned into a large-scale "donnybrook."

The three veteran officers—Sgt. Tom Culley, Officer Richard Brewer and Officer James Bergstrom responded to an anonymous phone call Monday afternoon warning of a possible "rumble" in the 200 block of Los Olivas Avenue.

Officer Bergstrom was touring the area with three rookie officers when the alert call came over the squad car's radio.

Upon arrival at the scene, Officer Bergstrom noticed eight men emerging from two parked cars.

Some of the men appeared to be carrying tools, he reported.

Singlehandedly the officer lined the eight suspects against the cars until Sergeant Culley and Officer Brewer arrived.

Arrested for possession of a dangerous weapon was Richard T. Mora, 6155 Mission.

Police said Mora was carrying a "World War I" type trench knife complete with brass knuckles.

Also arrested on San Francisco traffic warrants were Raymond A. Bortolussi Jr., 663 Lisbon Street, San Francisco, and John J. Rodriguez, 2172 Wyandotte, Mountain View.

The fight, allegedly over a girl friend of one of the men, was over before it started, police said.

"And the rookies got a valuable lesson on their first day out — how to control a mob until help arrives," a department spokesman pointed out.

Jitney Permit Hearing Set

Residents of Daly City's southern hills will have a chance to make their transportation wishes known August 22.

City councilmen Monday night set that date for a public hearing on applications for permits to operate four jitneys in the area.

Officials said they expect that the proposed jitneys would be operated by independent owners, with co-ordinated routes and schedules.

'Dengler Caught Diseases'

Navy Pilot Recovering

A Navy information officer reported Lt. Dieter Dengler, the pilot who escaped from the North Vietnamese last month, was in good spirits today and "on the road to recovery."

Captain J. E. Hill, Information Officer at the San Diego Naval Base, said Dengler was recovering "from several diseases" and actual debriefing of the heroic Pacifica airman had not started as yet.

Asked exactly what diseases the young pilot was afflicted with, Captain Hill declined to specify other than to say "you know what that area is like over there... you can figure it out for yourself."

The Department of Defense has wrapped Dengler's almost unbelieveable escape from North Vietnamese captivity, and subsequent trek through dense jungle and over rugged terrain back to "friendly" lines, in a shroud of secrecy.

D.C. Seeks Community Orchestra

In response to a rising community interest in cultural activities. the Daly City Department of Recreation is investigating the possibility of the establishment of a community orchestra.

Local residents in contacting the department have indicated there are many individuals who would enjoy playing in such a group as a recreational activity.

Needed to start such a project would be 10-12 violins, 5-8 violas, 4-8 cellos, 2-5 string bass, 2 oboes, 2 flutes, 2 clarinets, 2 bassoons, 4 french horns, 2 trumpets, 3 trombones, 1 tuba and 1 tympani player.

Anyone interested in playing with a community orchestra, should call Recreation Supervisor, Pat Lessard.

As soon as the places are filled the group will start rehearsing under direction of Morton Thomas.

Picketing, Shouting At S.S.F. Schools Meet

Teachers' Union Is At Issue

By GEORGE GOLDING

Two other teachers now hold the jobs that led to a picketing, shoutng disturbance at Monday's South San Francisco Unified School District Board of Trustees meeting.

While tempers still simmered from a shoutdown between Board Chairman Leo Eserini and teachers' union representative Abe Newman, trustees quietly approved a list of new teacher employes.

On that list were the names of Luis Ruiz and Gerald Witschy, teachers last year in the district's Adult School. Both were named as full-time instructors at Baden High, the district's continuation school.

With pickets storming angrily out of the meeting, removal of the disturbance's cause went almost unnoticed.

Pickets had marched into the meeting with their signs, after parading outside, and then marched out again when they were not allowed to speak be-

Portable Classroom Plan Cost Nearing $100,000

Expansion of Westmoor High School facilities in Daly City through use of portable classrooms as an alternative to busing pupils to other schools may cost as much as $100,000.

Fred Goodell, Jefferson High School District's assistant superintendent in charge of business, made that observation following district acceptance of a site work bid of $37,580.

The district has entered into an agreement for the work with the Norman Hynding Company of South San Francisco, which submitted the second-lowest bid on the project.

A low bid of $29,500 was submitted by the Walkup Construction Company, but was ruled invalid and rejected by trustees after a hasty consultation with the county district attorney's office.

Walkup failed to list subcontractors on the bid form, an omission that Hynding Company representatives protested. A district attorney's office spokesman confirmed that state law required submission of subcontractors by each bidder.

The Jefferson board previously awarded the actual portable classroom contract to the Madulux Company, which will be paid $42,000 a year for three years for the structures, which will house up to a total of 350 students.

These two contracts, plus architect fees, utilities and additional custodian charges, probably will push the total cost to nearly $100,000, Goodell pointed out.

Early this year trustees had considered busing of students, but the reaction of parents against such a move led to abandonment of such action, with use of portable rooms agreed upon instead.

After receiving the site work bids, Goodell said, the board had two choices: to accept the next lowest offer or call for rebidding.

To rebid would take another 20 days.

Three Strongarm Robbery Suspects Held in Bruno

A speedy report of a crime by a strongarm robbery victim and the alertness of a Burlingame police officer led to the capture of three suspects within 15 minutes after a holdup at the well-lighted corner of San Felipe Avenue and El Camino Real in San Bruno early Tuesday.

Through the co-operation of San Bruno, Millbrae and Burlingame police officers, Pearl Edward Brasley, 18, 1544 Thirteenth Avenue, Oakland; Richard Wallace Dumas, 19, 125 Chormley Avenue, Oakland; and Richard James Jounier, 18, 1018 Foothill Boulevard, were arrested and charged with taking a wallet away, at gunpoint, from a United Airlines mechanic, Robert J. Wilson of 116A San Felipe Avenue.

After two men had accosted him at the street corner, taken his wallet and fled, Wilson dashed to Obbie's Bar across the street, and telephoned San Bruno police.

Wilson told Dunham one of the two suspects, later identified as Brasley, held a .38-caliber revolver at him and demanded, "I want your wallet right now!"

He got the wallet, which contained approximately $60 and miscellaneous personal papers, and the pair fled south on El Camino.

A short time later Millbrae

Residents Reject Demonstration Of Explosive Effect

By DENIS WADE

Residents of Park Avenue Heights in South San Francisco have rejected a plan to conduct a demonstration of blasting in the Stonegate Ridge development above their homes.

Citing a promise by the city council to allow no blasting in excavation for the project, members of the Park Avenue Heights Homeowners Association unanimously voted last week for a resolution condemning the use of explosives.

"The Association members and other residents of Park Avenue Heights do formally protest and object to the use of explosives and blasting, now and at any future time, in the cours of developing Stonegate Ridge," the resolution states.

"The promises made not to blast are deemed unequivocable, and the city council and William Young (the developer) have a bounded duty to keep same."

"The Park Avenue Heights Homeowners Association and residents of Park Avenue Heights do not consent to any form of test blast demonstration."

The test demonstration had been proposed by Young and the "powderman" who would actually do the blasting, C. A. Magistretti, at the City Council meeting July 18.

At that time, Mrs. Creamer indicated that she would personally welcome a test, if engineering inspections could be made to check on possible damage to neighborhood homes.

She told the council she would need 30 days to assemble her organization for an official reaction.

That meeting, held last Tuesday, resulted in the unanimous decision against the blasting test.

In a letter to Mayor Frank Bertucelli relating that decision, Mrs. Creamer alleged that the council had concluded its hearing of the issue "by assuring us that the decision to grant the permit to blast would be left with us, and that the city council would not approve the blasting unless the residents withdrew their objections."

"We expect, Mayor Bertucelli," she went on, "that the City Council will keep the original promise (not to blast) and this promise (to abide by the association's decision) and deny the permit to blast . . ."

The Mayor, informed of the association's stand by the Post, denied the council had left the decision up to the homeowners. "That isn't right," he declared. "I said that I wanted their approval before we granted anything."

The decision, Bertucelli said, will still be up to the council.

City Manager Eugene Aiello agreed that the council had never-promised to let the homeowners decide the blasting issue, but had only indicated that every effort would be made to please them.

Bertucelli commented that minutes of the July 18 city council meeting, at which the issue was fully discussed, would disclose no such promise.

And, asked whether he would personally favor issuance of the blasting permit in the face of solid neighborhood opposition, the Mayor said, "We have to get the job done . . . I guess the blasting will be done."

The final decision will be up to the full council, which meets again Monday at 8 p.m.

Councilmen at that time will have to weigh the protests against the damage which would be caused by winter rains if excavation of utility trenches in the development is delayed further.

Back to School Event Planned

"Back-to-School" will be the theme August 20 when Westlake Shopping Center opens its mall to teen-agers and collegians, presenting a fashion show aimed at the younger set, starting at 1 p.m.

Heading an array of pretty models will be Gene (Emperor) Nelson, radio KYA personality and star of his own popular record show.

quarters for all military services — would not discuss the security lid with news media.

Presumably the secrecy was ordered to prevent the North Vietnamese (not the Viet Cong) from devising methods against similar escapes by captive airmen.

A Navy pilot recently returned from the Viet Nam War said the Viet Cong took prisoners "on a temporary basis."

"After they extract what information they need, the Viet Cong usually shoot their prisoners," the pilot, who asked that his identity not be revealed told The Times.

He said the Viet Cong have no facilities to "hold" prisoners because of their hit and run methods of warfare.

Dengler, who resides with his brother Martin at 444 Lynwood Drive, Pacifica, was captured some six months ago after his plane was shot down on a raid over North Vietnam.

He managed to escape his captors with an Air Force pilot. Together they evaded search parties and worked their way southward toward South Viet Nam.

During the escape Dengler's companion was captured by a Viet Cong search party and, according to a Saigon news agency report, beheaded with a "two-handed sword."

The recently returned Navy pilot said he had never heard of the Viet Cong using a "two-handed sword"

"They (the Viet Cong) carry either a small razor sharp knife, resembling a grass sickle, or a large jungle machete," he said. "I suppose a person would hold the machete with two hands if it was to be used for executing someone."

The Navy would not offer any additional information on the matter, except to say "debriefing of Dengler has not started yet.

"We hope to expedite the debriefing," Captain Hill said, "This was the primary reason for transferring Dengler to the Balboa Naval Hospital here."

why this station has to be built at our front door."

Mrs. Livingood said the council had previously "closed the door" on this matter and asked "why did you re-open it?"

The council vote came after attorney Athearn explained the over-all station planning and traffic situation as it exists now and in the coming years.

"With the present rate of population growth in this area, not one, but 47 gasoline stations will be required to meet demands in ten years," Athearn said.

With councilmen Maurice K. Hamilton and George K. Ingham voting in favor of granting the use permit, and councilmen Donald Risso and Neil J. Christal voting against it, the deciding vote rejecting the permit was cast by Mayor Karney Barberian.

The crowd of some 40 Pacific Heights residents packing the small council chamber roared approval of the decision.

"This (rejection) amounts to a denial of a reasonable use of a person's land," attorney Athearn said. "I shall recommend to my client, Humble Oil, that a suit be filed against the city in the Superior Court of San Mateo asking that this permit be granted."

Athearn said he had met all arguments presented by the opposing Pacific Heights residents.

"We admit every objection they had on safety and aesthetics, but we offered reasonable explanations for every one of them," Athearn said.

Carl Stunz, a representative of Humble, informed the council the station would be "one of the most modern stations in the nation" and not cluttered with junk cars and tires, as one member of the opposition group contended.

Strongarm Suspects Arrested

Patrolman Victor Neugebauer spotted a car with three men inside. The vehicle stopped and one passenger was observed getting out at Hillcrest and Broadway in Millbrae. The car continued south on El Camino and was spotted by Burlingame Police Sergeant Jerry Nordstrum, with San Bruno's Dunham right behind.

Meanwhile, the suspect who was dropped off at Millbrae was stopped by Millbrae Patrolman C. R. Lent.

The revolver was not found in the possession of any of the suspects at the time of their apprehension. However, it was located by a Millbrae dispatcher, who had a short time before completed swing shift duty and was assisting Millbrae firemen, who were called out to help hunt for the weapon.

Wally Morgan found the revolver near a building on Broadway, some 40 feet off of Hillcrest.

The wallet has yet to be found.

Pickets, Shouting Greet School Trustees at S.S.F.

fore the session was called to order.

American Federation Teachers Executive Secretary Abe Newman tried to out-shout Board Chairman Leo Eserini with demands to be heard, while Eserini tried to formally open the meeting.

Eserini ruled Newman "out of order" several times, and finally directed District Superintendent Dr. Paul Nielsen to call police.

That was when the 25 sign-carrying pickets marched out.

Later on, Board Member Mrs. Lorraine Cooper challenged Eserini's actions as "arbitrary and undemocratic."

All of which stems from A.F.T.'s dissatisfaction with the state's "Winton Act," a law which directs each school board to set up a negotiating council through which teachers may converse with school boards.

The "cause celebre" of the affair was the union's claim that district administrators had given shabby treatment to two union members who last spring worked at Baden High, the district continuation school.

Mrs. Judith Kline and Wende Shoemaker had been employed as part-time, by-the-hour teachers at Baden, without contracts and without tenure.

Both say they have not been told whether they are going to be re-employed this fall, and do not know whether to seek other jobs.

Superintendent Nielsen said both were probationary employes. He said it is not customary to notify part-timers whether they will be re-employed, until later in the summer.

The union clamored that this is unfair treatment, and demanded a right to be heard.

Dr. Nielsen said the two teachers had spoken "for 20 to 25 minutes," at the board's July 25 meeting.

If that were not enough, he said, the two had been offered an appointment with him, to further discuss whatever they felt their problems were.

The two responded with a request to bring along another person, who was to be a union agent.

At that point, Dr. Nielsen apparently balked, saying that if the teachers must bring a representative, he should be accompanied by legal counsel.

Newman, the union's spokesman from Richmond, said this indicates the district's unwillingness to communicate with its employes.

Another union executive secretary, Keith Nason, admitted the A.F.T. had refused an offered membership on the district's seven-seat negotiating council.

"The negotiating council does not handle personal grievances," said Newman. "It is only for negotiating wages."

Whether or not the board can listen to teachers, without having them first go through the negotiating council channels, became the topic of a heated dialogue between trustees long after the union's picketers had left, adjourning to a nearby cafe.

Mrs. Cooper interrupted the routine agenda, between approval of a "classified workshop" and approval to employ a building inspector, to say she thought Eserini had acted undemocratically.

"I wish to go on record that I disapprove of these actions. I am aware of the written policies of this district, but must remind the chairman and the board that they are only guidelines."

She said Eserini had denied employes, people in the audience, and "even myself" the inherent right of freedom of speech.

the architect, decided to accept the Hynding bid.

It was considered a "good bid," Goodell said, since there were three other bidders still higher.

The preliminary estimate for the project was in the "neighborhood" of $30,000, the assistant superintendent said.

Transit Hearing Planned

Members of the public will be asked to state their views at a night meeting August 15 on several alternative rapid transit ideas for San Mateo County.

Directors of the West Bay Rapid Transit Authority have agreed that they can use all the help they can get in making a decision on which of the ideas is to be translated into actual plans for submission to the voters.

It was agreed at the board meeting last week that a second hearing will be scheduled, if necessary, to assure that the alternatives are understood and that the public has had an ample opportunity to speak its mind.

The alternatives, as developed by a team of consultants, include: extension of a modernized Southern Pacific system to a new location in downtown San Francisco or via San Bruno to the Bay Area Rapid Transit District station in Daly City; extension of the BART line to San Bruno or completely through the county to Palo Alto; construction of an exclusive right of way for transit buses to supplant rail transport.

The West Bay board is scheduled to narrow the choices down in September so that the consultants can concentrate on the alternatives having the best chance.

A single plan is to be chosen after May of next year and will be submitted to the voters in 1968.

The August 15 public hearing will be held at 7:30 p.m. in the county government center in Redwood City.

Previously, the consultants had suggested that the idea of extending SP to Daly City be dropped. If a rail line is to follow that routing, the board was told, it would be better to extend BART from Daly City to San Bruno. Yesterday James Schmidt, a member of the engineering team, expressed "serious reservations" about the bus transit concept.

Robert Emrich, another team member, told the directors that the type of system finally chosen will depend to a large extent upon the route that is selected.

For example, he said, if the route is to be the present SP right of way, a ground - level system would be best. An overhead system would work best on a routing running between the SP line and Bayshore Freeway. Along the freeway, a depressed but open railroad bed would be cheapest. If El Camino Real were chosen as the route, the transit system would have to go completely underground.

An overhead system, Emrich told the board, would be slightly cheaper than a ground-level, grade-separated line, while a depressed railroad would cost about 14 per cent more and the underground El Camino Real system about twice as much.

CALLING ALL HOMEMAKERS

By Donald C. Waite

LET'S TALK ABOUT "COLOR SCHEMES"

Popular colors in upholstered furniture, draperies and floor coverings change from time to time, just the same as they do in women's fashions.

You might be interested in knowing that a recent nationwide survey at the furniture mart in Chicago shows that blues are the No. 1 best-seller now in upholstered furniture, followed by the "fruit" colors — lime, lemon, tangerine and various other shades of green, yellow, and orange.

But the best rule in selecting the "basic" color for your living room, or any room in your home, is to start with a color YOU like best.

Some like monotones, or different tones of the same color used throughout a room. Others like contrasting or harmonizing colors. Either plan, with careful study, can be equally effective.

But you must start some place. In a living room it is best to start either with your floor covering or your sofa or sectional, and work out your color scheme from there. You can also select your wall colors first and then pick the rest of your furniture and furnishings to harmonize with your walls.

Some decorators prefer neutral colors for sofas or sectionals which enable them to use a great deal of color in chairs and accessories.

Please feel free to let us help you with any of your "color" problems.

Our decorators, here at Sterling Furniture in Westlake Shopping Center are at your service no matter what your decorating problem may be. We are open Wednesday and Friday evenings 'til 9 p.m. for your shopping convenience.

Garage, Car Lost in Fire In San Bruno

Fire early Sunday caused an estimated $11,500 to a Kains Avenue home in San Bruno after a motorcycle backfire ignited gasoline in a garage.

San Bruno firemen were able to confine the blaze and the damage to the garage, a bedroom above the garage and the kitchen at 841 Kains Avenue.

A car and the motorcycle that 17-year-old Edward F. Holliday was working on while his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Edward A. Holliday, slept, were destroyed.

The youth attempted to put out the fire with blankets, but the blaze spread too rapidly. Further efforts to extinguish it with a garden hose failed and Holliday fled the hot garage through a window.

The first call to firemen from a woman, crying hysterically, failed to give an address.

A second call sent the firemen to the proper area.

Heat from the blaze caused some damage to the kitchen, but the rest of the interior was undamaged, said a fire department spokesman.

The roof of the house also was damaged.

One fireman was hurt when he slipped through a ladder rung, but otherwise no other injuries as a result of the 12:35 a.m. fire were reported.

Crosstown Bus Service To Begin Next Month In South San Francisco

South San Francisco will get its new crosstown bus service September 19.

Approved by the public utilities commission the first of July, the new transit line will connect the city's western neighborhoods with the downtown area and Greyhound and Southern Pacific depots.

Jake Jones, who founded El Camino Charter Lines in 1962, said his firm presently operates five buses. The new service will be the company's first non-charter operation.

El Camino's current customers include several North County public and parochial school districts.

The route approved by the PUC will take the buses from Airport Boulevard and Baden Avenue to Spruce, Alida Way, Country Club Drive, Dorado Way, Avalon Drive, Junipero Serra, Westborough Boulevard, Olympic Drive, Shannon Drive, St. Cloud Drive, Oakmont Drive, King Drive and Callan Boulevard.

A one-way fare of 25 cents is proposed, with 15 cents for children under 15, and those under six free.

Jones noted that the route will take El Camino within one block of Pacifica's El Mar Transit Company route, recently established by Mr. and Mrs. John Cushing.

"We would like to work out an arrangement with the Cushings to permit passengers to transfer," Jones said. Such an arrangement would permit Pacificans to travel across the Peninsula to connect with Greyhound and Southern Pacific lines.

Mrs. Cushing, asked about the possibility of an agreement, said she and her husband would be happy do anything that would expand their business. "But," she pointed out, "our main goal is to promote Pacifica, and keep Pacificans shopping at home."

It will be a simple matter, with the new service, for Pacificans to walk the one block and take the bus to South San Francisco with or without some sort of transfer.

Jones said he expects his service to take "six months or so" to begin paying for itself, adding that any new business faces a period of building up customers to a point where profits begin. One difference, he said, is that a bus has to run whether there are any riders or not.

Nevertheless, El Camino already has tentative plans to expand beyond the east-west route if it proves successful.

"We have plans eventually to expand too Stonestown and San Bruno," Jones said.

San Bruno presently has no bus service, although Stonestown is served by Northgate Transit Service, whose outes cover most of Daly City and extend to South San Francisco. Northgate, which opposed approval of the initial El Camino route, can be expected to fight any threatened intrusion into its territory.

Jones, who estimated the service will cost him $700 a month, said he hopes to obtain financial support from the Westborough Homeowners' Association which has indicated it that Downtown merchants may also contribute.

Slayer Count Is Lodged Against Man

Sheldon Leplin, 18, of 2325 Alameda Avenue, was arrested by San Mateo police last week and charged with non-negligent manslaughter in the auto death of a housewife last month in South San Francisco.

Mrs. Lucille May Stephens, 48, was killed instantly and her husband, Edwin, seriously injured, when their car collided with another driven by Leplin on Airport Boulevard in South San Francisco July 7.

Yes, potential prep football players of Daly City and Pacifica — you too, can play Pop Warner football for a San Francisco team.

That's the theme song these days of Hank Espinal, coach of the same San Francisco Mariners who have won three straight city Warner League championships and who, believe it or not, still need players — from anywhere.

Espinal isn't illegally proselyting. There's no rule about having to be from the city of the team you play for.

If it seems strange that a successful coach must go outside his bounderies to stock his squad, it isn't. For one thing, good football players can be born anywhere.

Another factor is that since only 13-14 year olds at not more than 130 pounds may play, the field can get narrowed down rather quickly. Finally, some kids are awed about going out for a championship team, feeling they won't have a chance.

What they forget is that physiological law dictates that boys grow and therefore cause big yearly turnovers on teams scaled to age and weight limits.

ESPINAL, an insurance man who played halfback at Sacred Heart and rugby at the Olympic Club, has been coaching the Mariners for four years, and has built an impressive program, including traveling dates and special events.

The Mariners make regular trips to the East Bay and down the Peninsula, will, if they win the title again, host an outside team (possibly a Philadelphia squad this year) and are in line for a post-season game in San Diego.

As Espinal rightfully points out, Pop Warner takes the place of a junior high school football program which is eschewd in California but which works out so spectacularly in many other states.

"I get all the cooperation in the world from high school coaches," says Espinal, who has developed All-City stars such as Lincoln's Tony Blass.

"They get a kid from the Pop Warner League and they don't have to spend nearly the usual time on fundamentals. The boy is far advanced over others, which is an advantage to himself and to the team."

And as this author would like to point out, one of the biggest weaknesses in Coastside football has been the lack of just such a program.

At the moment the Mariners are in training and won't play their first game until the middle of September.

It is not, Espinal emphasizes, too late to turn out. Here are the particulars: You must be 13 or 14, with no 15th birthday this year, must not weigh more than 130 pounds (if you're close, it'll be run off you). Signup deadline is September 1. You may sign at McCoppin Park in San Francisco (24th and Santiago), where the Mariners practice daily except Sundays during August from 4:30 to 6 p.m. For further information, you may call the Police Athletic League at KL 3-1158 or Hank Espinal at PL 6-8413.

PLUG: If you want to know the REAL story behind the John L. Sullivan-James J. Corbett championship fight, rush to your newsstands and buy this month's issue of San Francisco Magazine. We can vouch for the sparkling story's authenticity. We wrote it.

PEOPLE HEARD FROM: ART DIKAS, who works at Sun Valley Dairy, played for four years in the Cincy chain (Tucson, Scranton, Birmingham, etc.), and who is a member of the Board of Directors for the San Francisco Old-Timers Association (old-time baseball players, that is), called to tell us he'd be regularly phoning in information on the public-invited activities of the Old-Timers.

So what do the San Francisco Old-Timers have to do with a San Mateo County sports column? Plenty. Most of the San Francisco Old-Timers live in San Mateo County. Dikas is a Daly City resident.

Lefty O'Doul, who called to thank us for a piece we did recently advocating Lefty for the Hall of Fame. There was nothing unusual about the conversation itself but it's still a mystery around the office as to how O'Doul got our home phone number, a series of digits guarded as closely as the combination to Monte Dayton's wall safe. We really don't mind, but Monte's worried sick about the security leak.

One interesting thing about the conversation. When, at its conclusion, we expressed our personal regrets to O'Doul that we didn't have a vote in Hall tabulating, he said, "That's all right. Don't worry about it." And he acted like he meant it. That may be why he's never made the Hall. He won't worry about it.

BASEBALL THOUGHTS: Poor Robin Roberts, who should have won 300 games long ago, is still relatively far from his goal and reaching the end of the trail. He's never had the luck to catch on with a good club, except the year the Yankees signed him — and then released him without a fair trial.

CAMPOUT—These girls from the Linda Mar Playground group get cookout fire ready to roast hot dogs and marshmallows at "hobo night" at Terra Nova High School last week. They were among 150 boys and girls from nine Pacifica playgrounds participating. Post Money Bag Event Reaches Half Way Mark

The Times-Post "Money in the Bag" contest enters the half-way mark today.

A San Mateo County Fair visitor is pictured in The Times today, carrying the identifying "Money in the Bag" shopping bag. The person pictured will receive $25 (double that if the party is a regular subscriber to The Times) by claiming the prize by 5 p.m. tomorrow at The Times main office, 1080 South Bayshore.

Any adult visiting the San Mateo County Fair can enter the contest by picking up a lucky "Money in the Big" handy shopping bag at The Times fair booth in the Twin Industrial Building. A roving Times photographer will be visiting the fairgrounds each day looking for persons carrying The Times shopping bags.

From random photographs taken each day, one picture will be selected for publication in The Times and that person will be eligible for the $25 or $50 prize.

The contest will continue each day until the fair closes Saturday. Visit the county fair and play "Money in the Bag." Watch The Times carefully each day for the picture of the winning contestant.

Youth Rally

The Christ Ambassadors of Bethel Church of Pacifica will join hundreds of other young people at a Christ Ambassador Rally at 7 p.m. Saturday, at the Assembly of God Church, 1305 Middlefield Road in Redwood City.

The Ambassadors are an active Christian young people's group that meets each Sunday at 6:30 p.m. at the church.

DR. JULIANEL

Guest Pastor At Westlake

Dr. Lewis J. Julianel, who has served as interim pastor since his retirement as minister of the San Francisco First Baptist Church in San Francisco, will be the guest minister at the 11 a.m. Sunday worship services at the Westlake Community Baptist Church.

Doctor Julianel, who now lives in Daly City, was pastor of the San Francisco church for 23 years.

D.C. Students Delayed By Road Block on Tour

The two students who were selected for the Two-To-Israel trip, Eleanor Werner, 25 Oakmont, Daly City, and Glenn Cohen, 640 Clarinada, Daly City, along with the Bible Tour with which they were travelling, recently encountered an Army road block by the Israel Defense Forces.

After a boat trip across the Kenneret to Ein Gev, the students were returning to Tiberias. The Army road block forced them back to Ein Gev where they had to sleep on the lawn until 2 a.m.

The trip has already included the upper Galilee and the archaelogical dig at Hazor. The group visited the site of the ancient synagogue of Corazin.

One of the outstanding aspects of the trip includes participation in a kibbutz (collective farm). The schedule on the kibbutz begins at 3:45 a.m., with work beginning in the fields at 4:30 a.m. Breakfast is at 8:30 and work resumes at 9 a.m.

The meals are served in a large community dining hall where the menu is selected by the kibbutz cook for the complete group. Breakfast and dinner consist of cucumbers, tomatoes and bell peppers, with bread, butter and jam. Lunch includes soup and meat with bread and potatoes.

Eleanor and Glenn will return to the United States this month.

D.A. Should Stop The Pussyfooting

When suspicion of corruption hangs over law enforcement officers in San Mateo County the people of the county have a right to the truth and officers wrongfully suspected need the same truth for the clearing of their names.

The truth should come promptly and should not be given concealment by hiding behind the skirts of any grand jury, local or federal. There has already been too much of this and the Disttrict Attorney's expressed intent to carry it further is intolerable.

A federal judge has declared from the bench that there is clear evidence of a conspiracy to conceal a gambling operation and that the absence of prosecution is unbelievable and scandalous. If this is clear to a federal judge it should also be clear to the District Attorney and, with access to the evidence, he ahould proceed forthwith. He does not need the grand jury to do this and a protracted investigation before the grand jury is unnecessary. There has been too much "hushing" of this case and every day that it continues makes it worse.

IF the District Attorney has no case he should say so and not try to use the grand jury as a cats-paw to get an indictment that he would not prosecute if he had to lay an information himself.

His pussyfooting with this case does nothing to enhance his image as a bold and fearless prosecutor. What is coming through is an image of timorous indecision.

Television in Police Vehicles Predicted

In the next few years, South San Franciscans may notice their police officers watching television in the patrol cars, or walking around listening to small portable radios.

The television receivers will not be picking up Lawrence Welk or the Late Show, however; they will be connected via closed circuit to South San Francisco police headquarters, to keep each car in visual contact with the station.

Police Chief John Fabbri predicts that TV in the field may be possible in South San Francisco soon. The system has already been successfully demonstrated.

Its advantages are many. For one thing, an officer who stops someone suspected of a crime presently must rely on his radio to check the description and identity. With television, a picture of the wanted person would be flashed to the officer, who could determine instantly whether he had the right man.

TV communications may not come to South San Francisco for several years, but two-way walkie-talkie radios which an officer can strap on when he is away from his car are a different story.

"Within two years, we hope to have one on each officer who leaves a car," Fabbri said.

The units, he noted, are about eight by three by one and a half inches, and would not interfere with the wearer's actions in any way.

In all situations, the officer would be in constant contact with headquarters.

South San Francisco's ambitions may stretch the imagination of some, but the electronic advances Fabbri talks of are the next logical step for a department which already boasts some $22,000 worth of electronic communication equipment at headquarters alone, not counting mobile units.

And remote-control radio equipment is being placed in the city's new emergency operating center in the basement of the new Orange Avenue Library, for use in the event of a civil defense or other emergency.

This equipment, which will be used regularly to insure that it is in proper operating condition, can be controlled from the police radio room; it can be used for all the city's communications, or solely for disaster work.

The regular radio equipment, completely modernized in a program completed last April, links the police department with other law enforcement agencies throughout the state, as well as South San Francisco police, fire department and city officials.

South San Francisco operators also dispatch units for the Broadmoor Police District between 4 p.m. and 8 a.m., under an agreement approved last week by South San Francisco Councilmen.

Special Report

When Broadmoor office personnel go home in the evening, they simply flip a switch which sends all incoming calls directly into the South San Francisco switchboard. A chime immediately tells the officer on duty that the call is for Broadmoor. In addition, the two departments are linked by a direct "hot line."

Another organization which has taken advantage of South San Francisco's extensive communications system is the Colma Fire Department, whose volunteers are alerted by a siren atop the firehouse, activated from South San Francisco when an alarm is received.

When the siren sounds, the first volunteer to the station calls South San Francisco on a hot line, to get the location of the fire. He then warms the truck up, and is ready to go when the other firemen arrive.

South San Francisco uses a system of cards to show the disposition of each emergency call handled.

The card is inserted into a time clock when the call comes in; it is punched again when an officer, ambulance or appropriate unit is dispatched; and a third time is printed on the card when the emergency unit reaches the scene.

A fourth time, printed on the rear of the card, indicates when the unit returns to service.

The cards enable the dispatcher to keep tabs on every call on which a unit is actively working, and in addition provide a permanent record of how each incident is handled.

Tape recorders provide an additional record. Every call is automatically taped, and the telephone company time signal is superimposed to give the exact time of each call.

As modern as South San Francisco's communication system is, it will be obsolete in 14 years, according to department estimate. The mobile units have a life expectancy of only 10 years, also due to obsolescence.

With the rapid advances in the electronics industry, local law enforcement may soon find even television and walkie-talkies old fashioned.

Dick Tracy, who has been using TV for surveilance and to record arrests for years, recently turned to one-man "air cars" which enable an officer to fly about through the air.

While that is one development that local police are not ready to predict, South San Francisco's enlarged version of Tracy's famous "two-way wrist radio" is already a reality, and a distinct possibility for early adoption and use.

The end result of these advances in communication, Fabbri said, is a more efficient and economical police operation.

Among other savings, radio eliminates the need for a number of police stations scattered throughout the city by allowing communication with an officer who is already in the neighborhood, patrolling a beat.

Future developments will provide greater protection for the public and police alike, while enabling officers to do a better job.

FRED SPIVEY IS KNOW TO HUNDREDS of South San Franciscans—but only as a voice. He spends his days in the communications center of the South San Francisco Police Department, calmly answering calls and dispatching officers and emergency equipment, relaying information, co-ordinating efforts with other departments. A Navy veteran with 22 years' communications experience, Spivey can instantly locate any point in the city on illuminated map overhead. Each movement of a unit is recorded by inserting card in slot of time clock, at right, for precise permanent record. (Post Photo)

'Olkahoma' Still Wins

Barbara Bladen

While the East Bay grieves over the loss of Melodyland and San Francisco city officials wrestle with the decision of inviting the American Conservatory Theater to fill the void left by the Actor's Workshop, San Mateo County can puff out its chest with pride over the "Oklahoma" production at College of San Mateo's Little Theatre.

"The Light Opera Workshop has done good shows before, ever since it originated as the Music Camp at La Honda several years ago. This is the fourth show for many of the singers; and the community spirit is evidenced in the co-operation of Peninsula dance schools and volunteers from the little theaters. But it falls to the San Mateo City Recreation Department to have the foresight to assemble all this talent and support it into the final production we witnessed.

No need to bolster up the youngsters' morale with empty praise, they know they are good and directors Anthony Campagna, Kenneth Ton, and Ben Denton have good reason to be proud of them, as does the entire community.

The most familiar of all musicals is still a treat when it has the singing, acting, and dancing talent of Joyce Thomas as Laurey, Gordon DeVol as Curley, and Jerry Klingler as Jud. Carla Graham-White's choreography as danced in the "Dream Ballet" by herself, Richard Rowley, and Fred Fadelli, add to the polish of the amateur show that in many ways surpassed what we saw at the local theater-in-the-round last year.

THERE'S A FRESHNESS TO THE 23-YEAR-OLD SHOW with its incredible outpouring of melody that seems to defy time. Not that everything in "Oklahoma" has survived intact: The cornpone humor has taken on a distinct Beverley Hillbillies' flavor. This could be minimized if Pixie St. Dennis as Aunt Eller and Robert Axelson as Ike Skidmore weren't playing their roles in "Li'l Abner" fashion.

The show had bustle and speed and style even to the wide-eyed attention of Judy Karel, a member of the chorus who sets just the right pace for the gingham and check-costumed girls.

The melodies roll out, one after another, "Many a New Day," "Out of My Dreams," "Surrey With the Fringe on Top," and a seemingly endless supply. There isn't a one that doesn't fill you with a warm, happy feeling and a sense of nostalgia.

Although the core of the drama revolves around one of the "blackest" bits of humor seen in a musical, particularly a Rodgers and Hammerstein, in the smoke-house where Curly baits Jud Fry, the two actors distinguished themselves in keeping the scene in check. It's a case of slipping a little arsenic along with the saccharine.

LAURIE RUSHTON MADE GOOD USE OF THE pout in her comical Ado Annie while getting attention from Steve Lynch as a suitor with honorable intentions and Philip Garay, a masher with dishonorable intentions. Lynch brightens the stage with a catch "Kansas City" solo and Garay affects a plaid coat, Chaplin walking stick, moustache, and gait for the philandering peddler, Ali Hakim.

The aura of beguiling charm in "People Will Say We're in Love," and the cotton candy atmosphere of the hoedown picnic are safely preserved in the hands of this principally teen-age cast. The 30-piece orchestra deserves a goodly measure of praise also. If at times the music overrode the singing, it's all to the good since some of the voices were weak anyway. But Miss Thomas and DeVol more than carried their share of the show.

Blossom Blab Ban!

By DENNIS WADE

Like Women's Wear Daily, the fashion newspaper which was banned from the Johnson-Nugent nuptials for publishing details of the wedding party gowns ahead of schedule, The Post last week also uncovered a "scoop."

Northern San Mateo County was a major supplier of the flowers used at the wedding and reception!

We immediately sent a photographer to take a picture of a Colma nurseryman who was sending blossoms to the White House, and called the wholesaler who had been given the order for thousands of flowers directly from the White House Florist.

The result was instant panic.

The wholesaler called the nurseryman, then The Post. Then the nurseryman called The Post and The Post called the wholesaler.

All news about the wedding, they said, must come from the White House. Any release before the wedding would surely occasion swift and horrible reprisals from Washington.

"Oh," we said, conjuring up visions of Women's Wear reporters peeping in the church windows and lurking behind bushes, all because they had violated the rules.

The Post, of course, was not worried about being banned from the wedding. Frankly, we weren't invited.

But the idea of all those thousands of San Mateo County flowers being barred from the Social Event of The Year was unthinkable.

Our duty was clear.

And we did it.

We sat on the story. We followed The Rules. And we're just a little proud to know that we made the daughter of the President happy by not blabbing about her blossoms.

After all, a girl has a right to have things the way she wants them on her wedding day. And if horitulcutral secrecy is her wish, we consider it our command.

We're looking forward to doing the same for Lynda Bird some day.

COLMA CONTRIBUTED flowers for the wedding of the President's daughter Saturday: Ray D. Ottoboni, Colma councilman and nursery owner, selects his top blossoms for distributor William Zappettini, who received order for thousands of blooms from the White House florist. San Mateo County flowers decorated the White House and National Shrine of the Immaculate Conception. Blossoms, flown to Washington for Luci Johnson-Pat Nugent wedding and reception, were supplied by a number of area growers, shipped by the Zappettini company.

The Dream of A Home in Woods

Samuel Chandler

A cabin in the woods, a place to retreat from the hurly-burly and the frustrations of a seemingly unsafe world.

In our generation thousands of Americans are finding this dream coming true. "There is no pleasure more satisfactory," writes one of themn "then the pleasure of building for yourself some kind of a house" (in the woods).

"A house," writes Charles D. White, "that will satisfy some native, inborn instinct that seems common to us all." Mr. White is an architect who has produced a book of instructions for designing and building camps, cottages, and even guest houses. It is a practical book that is addressed to the person with absolutely no experience.

BESIDES the plans for twenty camps—cabin, cottages, etc.—there are chapters on the materials to be used, on tools, construction, fireplaces, woodwork, painting, plumbing.

In a chapter that gives advise on choosing an ideal campsite, Mr. White says that the best advice he can give is to choose a location that gives you a thrill and will allow your pleasure to increase each time that you visit the cabin of your dreams. There follows a discussion of such important items as accessibility, weather, water supply, and costs.

Another chapter discusses the type of camp to build. It contains sections on size, and accommodations.

Two similar books are Conrad Meineche's "Your Cabin In The Woods" and "Cabin Craft and Outdoor Living." The author writes that among the sweetest words in the language are, "Hi, brother, welcome to my new cabin."

These colorful books outline camps and trailers as well as cabins. Among the subjects treated are forest fires, beds, fireplaces, landscaping, flagpoles, cabin tools, thrift, entertainment and stoves.

Of special interest is the chapter of outdoor menus. Here one learns how to make hunters' stew in a ten-quart pail over an outdoor fire, or red flannel hash with potatoes that have been baked in a hole, or how to prepare a picnic with all the fixings.

TWO SUNSET books that are helpful in building cabins are "Cabins and Vacation Houses" and "Cabins and Beach Houses." The first contains 252 plans and drawings and 250 photographs.

Special chapters deal with interiors, site improvement, acquiring the land and care and maintenance. The whole book is arranged in chapters dealing with types of cabins. The back page contains three charts giving lumber grades, standard dimensions and a table for converting lineal to board feet.

The other Sunset book contains plans for sixty-three cabins from a cook shack to a lodge for twenty. A special section is entitled "Financing and Insurance." Still another, is a reading list of books and government pamphlets.

Another Sunset book that has proven helpful is "New Homes for Western Living." The houses outlined range from under 1,000 square feet to over 2,000 square feet. While none of the plans are for mountain cabins, all contain chapters that can be used in planning a building or retreat—a place that Mr. Meinecke calls, "the home of liberty and of the fruits of good living."

Shopping Around For Pool Urged

Lorene Beasley

A well planned pool can be one of the best investments a homeowner can make. A poorly built pool can be the cause of untold grief and decreased property values.

Today's pools are avialable in every size and shape to fit the owner's individuality. An eperienced and reliable contractor will help to determine the proper site to blend in with an existing house and landscape.

He will advise as to the best materials for the climate and site; whether the pool should be built of pneumatically applied concrete, vinyl or nylon liners, fiberglas or steel and aluminum. He should check with Public Utilities to determine location of underground lines before excavating.

A 20x40 FOOT pool is good for swimming and diving. A 12x27 pool is generally considered to be the minimum practical size.

Diving depth should be determined by the type of diving board desired. Pools with a depth of less than eight feet should use boards of suitably shorter length and distance from the surface of the water.

The purchase price of the pool installation, as a rule, includes a pump, diving board, water lights, leaf skimmer, vacuum cleaner, ladder and life-line anchor.

Shop several pool companies before making your final selection. Do NOT SIGN a contract in blank or one that does not cover all oral promises.

Your contract should clearly include all items of expense for materials and labor, including optional equipment. It should clearly state the TOTAL cost and financing arrangements, the starting and completion date, materials to be used, specifying grade, weight, color, size and cost.

The contract should place the liability of the cost of any necessary re-location of electrical, water and gas lines.

BEWARE of the unauthorized free lance salesman who peddles his contracts to th lowest bidder. The mechanics lien law exists in California and you may end up paying twice to the builder and to the subcontractor.

Beware of the pool salesman who offers a special price for the use of your pool and home for advertising purposes.

Louanne's Datebook

By LOUANNE HEATH

LOCAL Camp Fire Girls who have been to camp and those who will be going before the end of this month will have a unique and enriching experience to report to their friends when school reconvenes less than a month from now.

The one person who will make summer camp this year different from prior encampments is a cheerful, vivacious Swedish counselor who arrived at Camp Caniya in June and has charmed and delighted the girls and her co-workers alike.

Vivi-Anne Skyman is a native of Vastaras, Sweden, and her participation in the Golden Gate Council Camp Fire Girl camping program is a result of her association with the International Program for Youth Leaders and Social Workers, (I.P.Y.L.&S.W.). Miss Skyman is one of a group of young, but highly experienced, social welfare workers who have been brought to the United States for a four-month study and work period.

As new as the experience of having a Swedish counselor is to our local girls, working in a "foreign" country is not a new thing for Miss Skyman who is now in her tenth year in the international program.

While this is her first experience with Camp Fire Girls, Miss Skyman is well qualified to serve. She has worked with youth programs in England, Germany, Greece and Israel.

ISRAEL stands out vividly in her mind for she reports it was in this newly maturing nation that she had perhaps her most varied summer. She, and fellow members of the I.P.Y.L. & S.. lived on a kibbutz, working in the fruit orchards and the cotton fields with other members of the kibbutz and then holding down a job in a local water meter factory as well.

Miss Skyman has been drawing on her wide background of international experiences to make the trip to Camp Caniya something special for the north Peninsula girls who are lucky enough to have this chance to meet her. They have been learning Swedish songs, dances, and games and having the fun of attempting to Americanize Vivi-Anne in the process.

The Americanization process began in April when the international delegation arrived in San Francisco and began an orientation program on United States institutions and customs which lasted through May. The visitors, who are the representatives of seventeen nations, took field trips to agencies, schools as well as youth organizations throughout the Bay Area. The initial period was followed by a term at San Francisco State College where Miss Skyman took courses in recreation and social work and lived in with families in several Bay Area locales.

MISS SKYMAN is anxious that parents do not receive the impression that youth work is a new field for her. In Vasteras she teaches grades four, five and six. In a slightly different approach to teaching assignments, in Sweden a teacher will begin teaching one grade, the fourth, and progress with the same students through grades five and six and then return to begin the whole process over again with a new group of fourth graders.

In addition to her teaching experience she explains that she has led and trained leaders for Girl Guides and Rangers, a Swedish youth organization which is for both boys and girls. This summer is her very first contact, however, with Camp Fire Girls, which is a strictly American group.

The ambitious undertaking is scheduled to require about three weeks to complete the photographing of the 1,600 members of the congregation.

Mrs. Clifton West, publicity chairman of the Mary's Help Hospital Guild reports that members of the Fiesta Al Freasco fashion show committee have been coming up with some very original and colorful ideas for the informal luncheon portion of the Fiesta.

Chocolate cans filled with fresh flowers will adore the brightly draped tables scheduled to be scattered about the court yard in Ghirardelli Square where the catered luncheon will be served as models stroll about displaying the latest in chic from Klein's Ski and Sport Shop, the William Silva collection, the D-R Design Research and MADness.

Members of the Guild will relax with their friends during the luncheon and let the participating shops provide the models as well as the fashion.

Mrs. West indicates that one of the main objectives of the show committee is to make this event as gay and informal as possible in contrast with the more traditional and formal fashion shows which the group has sponsored in the past.

Mrs. June Alley and Kurt Poehleman will be the co-chairman of the Art Guild of Pacifica's committee preparing for the September 10 and 11 Art and Fuchsia Festival to be held in the Sanchez Adobe. Mrs. Ginelle Curkendahl is the chairman of the Fuchsia Society Committee and she and Mrs. Alley and Poehleman will be working together on the final arrangements for the show.

FRIDAY NIGHT will be north Peninsula night at the San Mateo County Fair and Fiesta in the entertainment department. Scheduled to appear on the Fiesta Bowl stage are Betty Elliott, Marlene Hansen, Walter Jeter, Jr., Brinley Vital, Patti Parks Stolz and pianist Janet Holden and drummer Al Maffay.

The group will be performing a variety of selections including old standards, ballads, comedy routines and a number of selections from Broadway musicals.

The members of Pacifica's Fifty Plus Club will carry the greetings of California's Governor Edmund G. Brown to Alaska Governor William A. Egan when they journey northward, later this month, for a 23-day sightseeing jaunt through our northwestern most state.

Mrs. Edna Laurel Calhan, the club president, will carry the letter from Governor Brown to Governor Egan and make the presentation when the Pacifica group visits Egan in Juneau on August 23.

NEW LIBRARY BOOKS seem to arrive in an endless stream at the modern South San Francisco public library off El Camino Real daily. Scheduled to open in late fall, the task of indexing and shelving the books has been in progress for more than a month. Dave DaPrato (left) is piled high with books by library clerk Mrs. James Abernathy, while library clerk Mrs. Jacqueline Sanford hands two heavy reference works to an already sagging Jim Allio.

Sugar... 'n' Spice

By NELL NORTON

Last week we considered the matter and manner of baking for the small family. We concentrated on baking cakes, this week we will consider the making and baking of pies.

Pie is a great favorite in most families. Whether it's apple or peach, chocolate or cherry, pie makes a mighty tasty treat. Now to the method of pie baking for the small family.

Instead of baking a whole pie, make half a pie. Form one layer of pie dough into a pie pan, spread halfway with fresh fruit, fold the uncovered pie dough over the filling, flute and bake.

The produce counters are bulging with peaches these days, so the best kind of fruit pie to bake now is peach.

PEACH PIE FOR TWO

½ cup shortening
1½ cups sifted flour
1 Teas. salt
2 to 3 Tbsp. water
1½ cup fresh peaches
½ cup sugar (less if you like your pies more tart)
1½ Tbsp. quick-cooking tapioca
Butter or margarine

Sift flour with salt into a bowl. Cut in shortening, using a pastry blender or fork, until mixture is consistency of cornmeal. Sprinkle with cold water, a little at a time, over different parts of flour mixture. Toss together lightly with a fork. Use as little water as possible, just enough to moisten dough. Place on waxed paper. Knead three times. Press gently with paper into a ball. Let stand at room temperature for 15 to 20 minutes.

Lightly flour pastry cloth or board and covered rolling pin. Roll dough into 10-inch circle one-eighth inch thick. Fold pastry in half, place in pan, and unfold. Fit pastry into pan. Do not stretch pastry.

Spoon sliced peaches over one-half of pie dough. Combine sugar and tapioca and pour over peaches. Dot filling with butter. To form half pie, fold uncovered pie dough over filling. Seal edges together with water. Form rim and flute the edge. Cut three slits in top crust for vents.

Bake at 375-degrees 30 to 35 minutes, or until lightly browned. Cool on cake rack.

Makes half a 9-inch pie.

WHEN I tested this recipe I had lots of peaches, so I made three half pies and they were wonderful. The tapioca soaks up the juice so the filling is not too moist. In fact, the pies were firm enough to go in lunches—(not the whole pies, just slices of the pie).

Cooking apples are coming on the market again and there is something wonderful about an apple pie. So why not try the half pie method on making one? I'll give the amount of filling for a half pie, you may double it if you want to make a whole pie, or as I did, two half pies.

APPLE PIE

3 apples
one-third cup sugar
dash of salt
1 Tbsp. quick-cooking tapioca
Butter or margarine
Uncooked pie crust

Prepare the pie crust just as directed in the peach pie. Pare and slice apples. Combine salt, sugar and quick-cooking tapioca and mix with apples.

Place apples in half the pie crust. Dot with butter and fold dough over top and flute.

Bake in 375-degree oven 40 to 45 minutes or until apples are tender and the crust is nicely browned.

4 TV Sets Taken From D.C. Store

Bold, speedy burglars smashed a Daly City store window and took four television sets before the owners, sleeping in their quarters there, could get up front.

Daly City police said Mr. and Mrs. Norman Bolton, who operate the TV Man at 6241 Mission Street, heard the crash of their front store window at 2:30 a.m.

Without stopping to get dressed, they dashed to the front of the store, but too late to see any more than the smashed, splintered remains of the window panes.

Someone had broken the front store window, reached through and stolen four television sets, one a 19-inch color set. All were portables being displaed in the front window.

The crime was described by one police officer as a "bold" effort, since extra patrolmen had been assigned to the Mission Street area following duty at the Cow Palace. A police officer had checked the block moments before the window-smashing burglary.

County Takes Stand Against Curb Boxes

San Mateo County supervisors have taken a stalwart stand against curbside mailboxes.

At the insistence of Supervisor Jean Fassler, a rceognized authority on things beautiful, the board approved a resolution opposing the U.S. Post Office Department's new policy that only curbside delivery service will be extended to new subdivisions.

Mrs. Fassler will be armed with the document when she goes back to Washington, D.C. August 11-13 for a meeting of President Johnson's Citizens' Advisory Committee on Recreation and Natural Beauty, of which she is a member.

In formal language the resolution states that curbside mailboxes are 1) ugly, 2) expensive, and 3) easy to steal from. In addition, the document declares that "if the mailbox is located upon a post beyond the sidewalk area and within the property setback line, no particular practical advantage is gained but all of the unsightly and disturbing features of mailboxes upon posts will still be present."

The policy, the resolution continues, "is diametrically opposed to the growing policy throughout San Mateo County and the nation of requiring undergrounding of utilities.

Participation In Town Hall Authorized

Participation of Jefferson and Terra Nova High Schools with the City of Pacifica in sponsorship of a Town Hall on Crime and Delinquency was approved by district trustees last week.

Request for inclusion in the proposed October 8 project came in letter form over the signature of Pacifica Police Chief Niel Tremaine.

District Superintendent Edward Morgan recalled a similar countywide Town Hall as being "very successful"

RING UP $10—Mrs. Mary Fenton, 636 El Camino Real, South San Francisco, claims a portion of her cash and merchandise prize at Westlake Food Center in Daly City. She was last week's winner of The Times-Post "Your Grocery List" contest, correctly naming the lowest advertised prices on five of 10 staple food items. Ron Chiappari, secretary-treasurer of Westlake-Skyline Foods, congratulated Mrs. Fenton on her winning entry. Mrs. Fenton is shown "checking out" with $90 in merchandise orders from participating stores, as well as a cash award of $50, which included a $25 bonus payment given to all Times subscribers. S.S.F. Planning Officials Reappointed

Two South San Francisco Planning Commissioners have been appointed to new terms and the superintendent of the city's sewage treatment plant won an appointment to that job.

Frank Mammini and Joe Zlatunich, whose planning commission terms expired yesterday, will serve again. Mammini is vice chairman of the commission; Zlatunich was appointed this spring to succeed Warren Steinkamp who was fired by the council.

John Collins, who has been acting as treatment plant superintendent on a provisional basis, was given an official appointment to that position, with a one-year probationary period. The new appointment for Collins is retroactive to July 16, when his previous term expired.

Tot Is Injured in Collision With Truck

A 2½-year-old San Bruno girl, Karen Ramos, suffered bruises and a broken front tooth yesterday when she apparently ran into the side of a truck in the 800 block of Edgemar Avenue in Pacifica.

Pacifica police said the girl, whose mother was visiting in the area, darted into the street from behind a parked vehicle into the path of a United Parcel service truck driven by Raymond C. Hechin, 623 Capuchino, Millbrae.

Hechin was driving north on Edgemar at 15 to 20 miles an hour, witnesses told the police. When he saw the youngsters he immediately slammed on the truck's brakes and swerved. As a result, the child's momentum carried her into the side of the truck rather than in front.

She was treated at Mary's Help Hospital and released.

PHARMACISTS at the Walgreen Company's Westlake Shopping Center store display the business hustle that has been evidenced by the firm since its beginning 65 years ago—the anniversary of which is being observed this year. (Post Photo)

Walgreen's Hustle Is Continuing

The Walgreen Company's Shopping Center drug store is just one throughout the nation as the retail drug firm celebrates its 65th anniversary.

The company has come a long way since Walgreen store in south Chicago. It has maintained a steady pattern of growth ever since.

Walgreen bought his first store from his boss in 1901, adding his second unit eight years later.

He set up eye-catching store and window displays, started manufacture of his own line of drugs and made his own ice cream and his own chocolate candy and bonbons.

Ten years after opening his first store, the third was born, but Walgreen still wasn't big enough to get the price advantages possible through really large scale buying.

So, points out J. R. Saunders, Walgreen's western district manager, 15 non-competing druggists were persuaded to pool purchases with Walgreen, which led to formation in 1914 of the Federated Drug Co., with warehouse and daily delivery by wagon.

The hustle of special sales, product displays, a photo service, fountain treats and other marketing innovations stimulated the growth that led to 397 coast-to-coast stores in 1929 and 1,900 last year.

C. R. Walgreen, Jr., also a registered pharmacist, took over leadership of the growing chain in 1939, and he completed the step from the super store (Walgreen's first super store was opened in 1934) to self-service, the pattern settling firmly in the early 1950's.

Last year Walgreen's achieved sales of $432.45 million, with $480 million or better in the company year that will close September 30.

Saunders revealed that Walgreen's determination to provide uniform quality by making his own products if necessary has left the chain with diverse interests, among them:

A large Chicago laboratory for manufacture of pharmaceutical products, toilet goods and cosmetics; facilities for photo finishing and coffee roasting; a bakery; eight ice cream plants, a creamery that makes malted milk powder; international holdings in a 40 per cent interest in Sanborn's, Mexican drug chain with six retail units in Mexico City and one in Monterrey; ownership of a discount chain of 20 stores which operates as a separate subsidiary.

"DENTAL HEALTH FACTS"

After eating food containing sugar or carbohydrates, acid begins forming in your mouth. You should brush your teeth within fifteen minutes after eating before the acid has a chance to damage the enamel.

Use a toothbrush with a small head. Take time: give the toothpaste a chance to work.

Brush down on upper teeth. Brush up on lower teeth. Force bristles into spaces between the teeth while brushing inner and outer surfaces.

Use scrubbing motion when brushing the chewing surfaces.

If you cannot brush your teeth after eating, you should rinse your mouth thoroughly with water.

Dr. Campbell limits his practice to the making of dental plates, partial plates, removable bridges and extractions for same; however, he recommends that you see your dentist at least twice a year in order to help prolong the use of your natural teeth as dentures are not as efficient as healthy, natural teeth.

S.M. Flowers At the Wedding

Hundreds from San Mateo County attended the wedding of Luci Baines Johnson and Patrick Nugent Saturday in Washington, D.C.

Hundreds of dozens of flowers, that is.

County growers and other Bay Area nurserymen supplied an estimated two-thirds of the pink and white blossoms and greenery which decorated the National Shrine of the Immaculate Conception and the White House, for the wedding and reception.

The flowers were shipped to the White House by the William Zappettini Company, the state's largest individual distributor of flowers.

Many of the blossoms came from Zappettini's own fields near Half Moon Bay. Other blooms came from most of the other nurseries in the area.

The varieties of flowers sent east were specified by the White House florist, and included such San Mateo County specialties as Agapanthus, a member of the lily family. Garlands of Eucalyptus foliage also contributed to the decorations.

"Only in the Bay Area could such a wide variety of fresh flowers be found," said Bill Zappettini Jr.

Zappettini and his partner, Chuck Thomas, spent a month locating growers who could supply the particular blossoms called for by Washington, and arranging to have them shipped.

The flowers were flown to the White House aboard an American Airlines plane, with reservations made well ahead of time to insure no interference from the strike.

Directory Arrives At Pacifica

Pacifica Chamber of Commerce Secretary-manager Bernie Lake announced this week that distribution of that community's directory will commence today.

The directories arrived Monday and will be delivered to every business house and residence in Pacifica.

"We have attempted to make the directory as complete as we could," Lake said.

Creamy Pink Pear Pie Is Taste Treat

"Creamy Pink Pear Pie" is a pretty, pale-pink raspberry gelatin-cheese mixture in a crumb crust, garnished with slices of fresh California Bartlett pears. Serve dainty pieces with afternoon tea or dessert coffee.

In your local market, you will find Bartlett pears plentiful this year — and a good buy. They range in skin color from green to bright yellow. Yellow pears may be eaten today or within several days. Green pears are really mature; you will find they develop ripe flavor and yellow color stored in a paper bag for a few days at room temperature.

You can prepare many other quick and easy desserts from fresh Bartletts. To bake pears: Core and peel a strip of skin from the top of each pear; add fruit juice to the pan and bake in the oven. For pear sundae; Place a scoop of lime sherbet or vanilla ice cream in a sherbet glass; add fresh pear slices; top with chocolate syrup. Poached pear halves are delicious simmered in fruit juice or Rose' wine. For a quick dessert, serve whole pears in a centerpiece bowl with an assortment of cheeses and crackers.

Pears are low in calories, with only 63 calories in a medium-size (100 gm.) fresh pear.

Creamy Pink Pear Pie

- 1½ cups graham cracker crumbs
- ¼ cup melted butter or margarine
- 1 tablepoon powdered sugar
- 1 package (3 oz.) raspberry or strawberry gelatin
- ¼ cup granulated sugar
- Dash salt
- 1½ cups boiling water
- 1 tablespoon lemon juice
- 1 package (3 oz.) cream cheese, softened
- 2 fresh California Bartlett pears
- 1 cup whipping cream

Combine crumbs with butter and powdered sugar; mix well. Press evenly into 9-inch pie plate, building edge of crust slightly above rim. Bake in 300-degree (slow) oven eight minutes. Cool thoroughly. Combine gelatin, granulated sugar and salt. Dissolve in boiling water. Stir in lemon juice. Set aside ½ cup gelatin mixture; blend remainder gradually into cream cheese. Chill until mixture mounds on spoon. Meanwhile, pare, halve, core and slice pears. Whip cream; fold into gelatin-cheese mixture. Pour half into pie shell. Arrange half of pear slices on top. Pour in remaining gelatin-cheese mixture. Arrange remaining pears on top; refrigarate. Chill reserved gelatin until slightly thickened. Spoon over pears and top of pie. Chill until firm.

Makes 6 servings.

Roquefort Dressing On Wedges

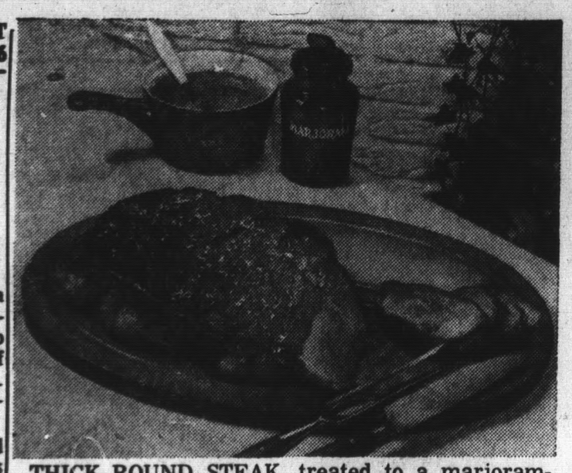
"Iceberg Wedges with Hot Roquefort Dressing" would be a smashing way to launch your first important dinner party this fall. But don't wait until fall to indulge yourself or treat your husband and friends to this elegant fare. It would be perfectly wonderful and highly original as the only other food on the plate with charcoal-grilled steaks.

If you like Roquefort dressing, just wait until you taste this recipe for Roquefort hot on cold, crackling crisp wedges of western iceberg lettuce! (For ease in eating, cut wedges into halves crosswise, then ladle dressing over the lettuce.)

ICEBERG WEDGES WITH HOT ROQUEFORT DRESSING

- 1 head western iceberg lettuce
- ¼ cup finely chopped onion
- 2 tablespoons salad oil
- 2 tablespoons flour
- 1 teaspoon sugar
- ½ teaspoon salt
- ⅛ teaspoon pepper
- ¾ cup milk
- 1 tablespoon vinegar
- ¼ cup crumbled Roquefort cheese
- 1 tablespoon chopped parsley

After purchase, core, rinse and drain lettuce; chill thoroughly in saran or plastic bag. Not too long before serving time, saute onion gently in oil just until soft. Mix in flour, sugar, salt and pepper and then stir in milk. Cook, stirring over medium heat until mixture is thickened and comes to boil. Gradually stir in vinegar, cheese and parsley. Remove from heat. Keep war mover hot water if necessary. Cut lettuce lengthwise into wedges and place on salad plates. Spoon dressing over and serve at once as first course. Makes 1 cup dressing.



THICK ROUND STEAK, treated to a marjoram-flavored marinade, may be grilled to perfection on the outdoor grill or in the broiler of the kitchen range.

Marjoram Marinade For Broiled Steak

A GOOD COOK tells us that she has great success using round steak on the charcoal grill as well as in the broiler of her kitchen range. When we tried her recipe, we found it excellent; you might like to follow suit.

The trick that tenderizes and flavors the meat is allowing it to stand for some hours in a marinade before cooking. A number of flavor-builders, including the piquant herb marjoram, go into the marinade. In broiling the steak, we cooked it only until medium-rare. In serving it, we sliced it thin across the grain. These methods help to produce tender broiled beef.

The donor of this recipe is likely to serve the steak during a summer weekend when she has guests. She puts together the marinade in the late morning and lets the meat stand in it all the long afternoon. At dinnertime, when her husband is ready to do service at the outdoor grill, the meat is cooked over glowing coals. With a couple of growing boys in the family, plus guests, she finds this steak fits in well.

BROILED STEAK WITH MARJORAM MARINADE

- 1 cup salad oil
- ¼ cup wine vinegar
- 2 tablespoons lemon juice
- 2 tablespoons iinstant minced onion
- 2 tablespoons marjoram leaves, crumbled
- 1 tablespoon salt
- 1 teaspoon coarsely ground black pepper
- ¼ teaspoon garlic powder
- 2 bay leaves
- 5 pounds (about) top round steak, 2 inches thick

Into a shallow glass or pottery dish, turn the oil, vinegar, lemon juice, onion, marjoram, salt, pepper, garlic powder and bay leaves. With a fork or whisk, mix thoroughly.

Wipe meat with damp paper toweling. If fat around edge of meat is very thick, cut away about half of it; with a sharp knife, slash remaining fat around edge at 2-inch intervals.

Place meat in marinade; spoon mixture over top surface of meat; cover with plastic wrap. Refrigerate for about 5 hours before broiling according to one of the following methods.

To charcoal-broil: Place meat on greased grid over glowing charcoals. Broil on each side, basting occasionally with marinade, only until center is a juicy pink-red medium-rare; test by using a small, sharp knife to make a tiny slit in meat. Broiling time will vary, depending on how far grid is from coals, but you may use 15 minutes per side as a guide. Thin ends of steak will not be so rare as the thicker center. In serving, be sure to slice meat very thin across the grain.

To range-broil: Place meat on pre-heated broiler rack, about 4 inches from high heat. Broil for 15 minutes, basting three times with marinade; turn and broil for 10 to 15 minutes longer, basting twice with marinade, or only until a juicy pink-red medium-rare. Thin ends of steak will not be so rare as the thicker center. In serving, be sure to slice meat very thin across the grain.

Makes 10 to 12 servings.

Spice Your Life With Patties

Ground beef patties take on spicy airs when they're served with this sauce as topping: ¼ cup catsup mixed with 2 tablespoons prepared mustard and ⅛ teaspoon cloves.

Spicy-topped beef patties go particularly well with a dinner that features candied sweet potatoes or fluffy rice sparked with almonds and a bit of soy sauce, green beans cooked with bacon cabbage slaw and coconut-custard pie.

It takes about 11 pounds of skim milk to make one pound of nonfat dry milk.

Streusel Pear Pie A Summer Delight

Confirmed pie fanciers owe themselves one of summer's fresh delights—Bartlett pear pie. So let's go.

The following recipe differs from the usual two-crust pear pie. This dessert is made with a pastry shell, a filling of the pears and a streusel topping that includes coconut. If you try this rule, please remember that the pie is at its best when it is freshly baked and served warm.

STREUSEL PEAR PIE

5 or 6 Bartlett pears
1-3 cup sugar
1 tablespoon lemon juice
1 tablespoon butter
½ teaspoon salt
1 tablespoons flour
Unbaked 9-inch pastry shell with high fluted rim
Coconut Streusel

Pare, halve and core the pears; cut each pear half into 4 lengthwise slices—there should be 6 cups. Into a large skillet (about 10 inches) turn the pears, sugar, lemon juice, butter and salt. Cover and cook over moderate heat for 8 minutes. Remove from heat.

With a slotted or perforated spoon, remove the pear slices allowing the syrup to drain back into the skillet; reserve pears. Stir a little of the pear syrup from the skillet into the flour; return to remaining pear syrup in skillet; over low heat cook and stir constantly until thickened and bubbly.

Place reserved pears in unbaked pastry shell; pour the thickened pear syrup over the pears. Bake in a hot (425 degrees) oven for 15 minutes. Sprinkle the top with the Coconut Streusel. Continue baking in the 425-degrees oven for 10 minutes. Place on wire rack to cool somewhat, but serve warm.

COCONUT STREUSEL

1-3 cup sugar
1-3 cup unsifted regular flour
3 tablespoons butter
2-3 cup flaked coconut

In a small bowl, stir together the sugar and flour; with a fork, cut in the butter. Use as directed in Streusel Pear Pie recipe.

Pear Sauce

This pear brandy sauce is delicious on chocolate ice cream or squares of chocolate cake. Cut fresh California Bartlett pears into thin slices to make about 1½ cups. Melt ½ cup apple jelly over low heat. Add pears and simmer about 5 minutes. Pour in ¼ cup brandy and bring to boil. Serve hot or chilled.

FRESH BARTLETT PEARS make a delightful pie that boasts a Coconut Streusel topping.

Cheese Adds To Zest Of Crackers

We find these Cheese Crackers, to which cornmeal gives an interesting texture and cheddar cheese a zesty flavor, are a delightful accompaniment for a salad. You might like to bake the crackers when you are entertaining at lunch.

Although these Cheese Crackers have a crunchy quality, don't expect them to have the brittle quality of bought crackers. To have these homemade crackers at their best, follow our directions for baking (or reheating), cooling and serving. If you don't, you'll be offering crackers that are too limp.

CHEESE CRACKERS

1 1-3 cups sifted regular flour
2-3 cup enriched white cornmeal
1 teaspoon salt
½ cup butter or margarine
1 cup (¼ pound) grated (medium fine) cheddar cheese
1 egg yolk
1-3 cup milk
1 whole egg

Into a medium mixing bowl, sift together the flour, cornmeal and salt. With a pastry blender, cut in the butter until particles are fine; with a fork, stir in the cheese. In a small bowl, beat egg yolk to break up; add milk and beat to combine; add to flour mixture; mix well. If necessary, add a little more milk to make dough hold together.

Turn out on a prepared pastry cloth; knead gently 2 or 3 times. Divide dough in half; roll out each half to form a 12 by 10 inch retcangle. Cut into 2-inch squares. Place slightly apart on ungreased cookie sheets. With a fork thoroughly prick each cracker. In a small bowl, beat the whole egg enough to combine yolk and white; brush crackers with beaten egg. Bake in a very hot (450 degrees) oven about 10 minutes. Remove to wire rack to cool; serve at once. Makes 60 crackers. Store any leftover crackers in a covered container; just before serving, in a moderate or hot oven heat the crackers just until hot through; cool and serve at once.

KITCHEN NOTES

You'll find it easiest to cut the butter into the flour mixture if you allow the butter to stand at room temperature for about 10 minutes.

It's a good idea to cut these crackers into squares as suggested; rounds or other shapes toughen the crackers.

These crackers must be pricked thoroughly before baking to prevent them from bubbling and blistering. The blistering causes uneven browning and mars the appearance.

Brushing the crackers, before baking, with beaten whole egg gives a shiny golden glaze. For a pastry brush, you can use a small, flat, soft bristled brush bought at a paint or hardware store and kept in the kitchen for use in cookery.

Try Bacon Around A Baked Egg

During one month of the year, at least, do you take a good look at the breakfasts eaten at your house? You do, girls, if you're with it!

Add the calories; check for balanced food intake from the four food groups, advises a home economist. A good breakfast includes a citrus fruit or juice; meat and-or eggs; bread and finally a dairy product like milk to drink and butter to spread.

To get the folks into the habit of looking forward to breakfast, give them a surprise treat in the form of baked or shirred eggs for breakfast in bacon cups. "Just see what mom's been up to," they'll say.

Egg and Bacon Rings

Sliced bacon
Eggs
Salt

Slowly broil or panfry bacon slices about 2 minutes. (Allow two slices for each egg.) Grease muffin pans and line the sides of each with two bacon slices. Gently drop an egg into each muffin pan and sprinkle with salt. (For a spicy flavor, add 1 tablespoon chili sauce before adding egg.)

Bake in a slow oven (325 degrees F.) about 15 minutes or until the eggs are set. Loosen the egg and bacon rings with a knife, then lift out of muffin pan. Serve immediately.

PARTY DESSERT—Buttercup Cake, made from pound-cake mix, has a pale gold filling. It will grace a party table along with a bouquet of fresh spring-time flowers.

Buttercup Cake Made With a Mix

Here's something for devotees of cake mixes. Pound-cake mix is flavored with orange and baked in a tube cake pan. Then an interesting filling is spooned into the opening in the middle. Egg whites are added to the cake mix, the yolks go into the filling.

This Buttercup Cake is fine to offer along with a compote of fresh fruit — strawberries and pineapple our choice. You might enjoy using this combination for a party.

BUTTERCUP CAKE

- 1 package (1 pound, 1 ounce) pound cake mix
- 1 tablespoon grated orange rind
- ½ cup milk
- ¼ cup orange juice
- 4 egg whites
- ¼ teaspoon cream of tartar

Sabayon Filling

Fresh fruit for garnish

Place pound cake mix and orange rind in the small bowl of the electric mixer. Add the milk; blend until dry ingredients are moistened; beat 1 minute at medium-low speed. Add orange juice; blend; beat 1 minute at medium-low speed. Place egg whites in large bowl of mixer; add cream of tartar; beat until soft peaks form—tips will curl over slightly when beater is slowly raised. Fold beaten egg whites gently but completely into cake batter. Turn into a greased and lightly floured 9-inch springform pan with a 3-inch tube in the center. Bake in a slow (325 degrees) oven for 40 to 45 minutes or until a cake tester inserted in the center comes out clean. Cool in pan placed on wire rack for 10 minutes. Turn cake out on rack; cool completely.

About an hour before serving, dust the cake generously with confectioners' sugar; place on serving plate. Make up Sabayon Filling and spoon into center, placing any extra filling in a small serving bowl to offer separately. Refrigerate ½ to 1 hour. Garnish with fresh fruit—strawberries and pineapple make a delightful combination.

Note: If the springform pan specified in recipe is not available, you may bake cake in a 9-inch angelcake pan or similar tube pan; filling may be served separately.

SABAYON FILLING

- ½ teaspoon unflavored gelatin
- 1 tablespoon cold water
- 4 egg yolks
- ¼ cup sugar
- 1-3 cup dry or medium sherry
- ½ teaspoon vanilla

Soften gelatin in water; reserve. Place egg yolks and sugar in the top of a double boiler and beat with a rotary beater to blend. Gradually beat in sherry. Place over hot water and cook, beating constantly, until mixture foams up in the pan and thickens. This takes from 3 to 5 minutes—do not overcook. Remove from heat, but not from hot water. Beat in softened gelatin and vanilla. Transfer to a metal bowl. Cook quickly in ice water, stirring until quite cold. Now use as filling for cake as directed in Buttercup Cake recipe.

Shoulder, Dumplings Are Hearty

For the spell of cool weather which always comes after a hot spell, appetites may suddenly zoom. Let a hearty dinner come to the rescue!

Like ham in flavor, pork shoulder roll promises a thoroughly delicious entree when it's prepared with sauerkraut and caraway dumplings. This pork cut is a boneless muscle in the shoulder section, explains a meat expert. It is usually sold as a cured and smoked cut and weighs from one and one-half to three pounds.

Heidelberg Special

- 1 smoked pork shoulder roll
- Water to cover
- 8 peppercorns
- 1 teaspoon celery seed
- 2 cans (16 ounces each) sauerkraut
- Dumplings

Cover pork shoulder roll with water. Add peppercorns and celery seed. Cover tightly and simmer 1½ to 2 hours or until done. Remove from liquid. Measure four cups of the cooking liquid and add the 2 cans of sauerkraut. Make dumplings. Bring sauerkraut and liquid to a boil. Drop the dumplings on top of sauerkraut, cover tightly and cook 15 minutes. 6 to 8 servings.

Dumplings

- ½ cups sifted enriched flour
- 2 teaspoons baking powder
- ¾ teaspoon salt
- 1 tablespoon lard
- ½ teaspoon caraway seed
- 1 tablespoon finely chopped parsley
- 1 egg, lightly beaten
- ¾ cup milk

Sift together flour, baking powder and salt. Cut lard into flour mixture with pastry blender or fork. Add caraway seed and parsley. Combine egg and milk and add to flour mixture. Stir only until dry ingredients are moistened.

SALAD

Combine well-drained fruit cocktail with ¼ cup of dairy sour cream and 1 tablespoon honey. Fold the mixture into gelatin that is partially thickened. Turn the salad into an oblong pan. To serve cut in squares, [illegible] sour cream

Bartlett Coffee Cake: Clip Recipe

Here's a recipe that you'd better clip and put in a safe place right now before some tidy-type throws today's paper away. "Bartlett Coffee Cake" is so good you'll probably wind up making it several times while the beautiful Bartlett pears from California are in our markets. Serve it at a leisurely weekend breakfast, coffee gathering or as late - evening refreshments with cups of hot, robust tea.

BARTLETT COFFEE CAKE

- 1 package (13¾ oz.) hot roll mix
- ¾ cup warm water
- 1 egg
- 1-3 cup melted butter or margarine
- 1 tablespoon sugar
- 1 teaspoon grated lemon or orange rind
- Pear Filling

PEAR FILLING

- 3 fresh California Bartlett pears
- ½ cup finely snipped dates
- ¼ cup sugar
- 2 tablespoons cornstarch
- ½ teaspoon allspice
- Pinch salt
- 1 teaspoon grated lemon or orange rind
- 2 tablespoons butter

Dissolve yeast from hot roll mix in warm water. Stir in egg, butter, sugar and lemon rind. Add flour mixture; blend well. Cover and set in warm place about 45 minutes to double in size. Roll on floured surface to 16x11 - inch rectangle. Spread with Pear Filling. Roll up, starting from long side. Place on lightly greased baking sheet. Shape as you wish into ring, crescent or strip. Cut slits across top of dough about 1½ inches apart. Let rise about 20 minutes. Bake at 375 degrees 30 minutes or until crust is golden brown. Drizzle with powdered sugar glaze if you wish. Serve warm or cold.

Pear Filling: Pare, halve, core and cut pears into cubes. Combine in saucepan with all remaining ingredients, mixing well. Cook, stirring constantly until mixture comes to boil and is thickened. Remove from heat. Cool.

Makes 1 coffee cake. (About 12 servings.)

Ring Salad Mold Stars Vegetables

Circles of bologna topping a ring mold filled with seasoned tomato juice and salad vegetables make a welcome sight at the table.

For hot evenings, this is an easy supper since it can be prepared in the morning or night before to chill to readiness. The protein in bologna is just as good nutritionally as that in steaks or chops, says a home economist, but calories are lower in this ready-to-serve meat than in many others.

Fit a bowl of mayonnaise in the center of the ring to go with the salad or, if desired, fill that space with green and ripe olives, carrot curls, cucumber and celery sticks and radishes.

Jellied Bologna Ring

- 1 pound small ring bologna, cut in ¼-inch slices.
- 1 cup tomato juice
- 1 teaspoon salt
- ½ teaspoon sugar
- 1 tablespoon grated onion
- 1 envelope unflavored gelatin
- 1 cup hot water
- ½ cup finely grated cabbage
- 2 tablespoons chopped pimiento
- ¼ cup diced celery
- ½ cup grated carrot
- 2 tablespoons chopped green pepper
- Mayonnaise

Combine tomato juice, salt, sugar and grated onion. Soften gelatin in tomato mixture. Add hot water. Pour a thin layer of the gelatin mixture into a 1-quart ring mold. Chill until almost firm. Arrange slices of bologna on the gelatin so they overlap slightly. Dice remaining bologna. Chill the remaining gelatin until it begins to thicken and stir in remaining vegetables and bologna. Pour over bologna slices. Chill until firm. Unmold on chop plate and serve with mayonnaise. 8 servings.

MEAT COOKERY Quiz

Q. What is the name of this cut of meat?

A. Beef full bottom round steak (including "eye" muscle).

Q. Where does it come from? How is it identified?

A. It comes from the section known as the round, from the hindquarter. This cut can be distinguished from the top round by its two large muscles as compared with one on the other cut. Like all beef round steak, it also has the narrow edging of suet around the outer edge.

Q. How is it prepared?

A. By braising. This means browning the meat first in lard or drippings, then adding a small amount of liquid (water, tomato juice, etc.) to it. Then it's covered tightly and cooked slowly, either on top of the range or in the oven. Low temperature is used no matter which way is chosen. Round steak, cut ¾-inch thick, will take approximately an hour to cook. Beef round steak is popular for preparing as Swiss steak. In this case, the meat is cut at least an inch thick and the meat is dredged with flour. The flour may or may not be pounded into the meat.

Corned Beef Busy Day Menu Feature

Lucky is the lady who stocks a shelf in her kitchen with convenience foods. She can put together a casserole in quick time on one of her busy days.

Canned corned beef hash is the main ingredient that goes in this, but she should also have some canned pimientos, potato chips and a few interesting seasonings, advises a home economist.

This casserole will heat through in 20 minutes with moderate oven temperature (350 decrees F.). It's designed for six to eight servings.

Quick Corned Beef Hash Casserole

- 2 cans (16 ounces each) corned beef hash
- ½ cup finely chopped parsley
- ½ cup pimientos, chopped and drained
- 2 small cloves garlic, finely chopped
- 2 tablespoon lemon juice
- ¾ cup milk
- ½ teaspoon celery seed
- ⅛ teaspoon sage
- ½ teaspoon Worcestershire sauce
- Dash of hot sauce
- ½ teaspoon salt
- 1 cup crushed potato chips

Combine corned beef hash, parsley, pimiento, arlic and lemon juice. Pour into greased 1½-quart casserole. Mix milk, celery seed, sage, Worcestershire sauce, hot sauce and salt. Pour over hash mixture. Top with potato chips. Bake in moderate oven (350 degrees F.) 20 minutes. Six to eight servings.

Sounds like a "fish" story, but this actually happened at Sil Oliva's Exposition Fish Grotto: A big spender from the Nevada sector recently visited Sil's Fisherman's Wharf restaurant and spent money like falling snow (drinks for the house, special menu orders). Running out of ready cash, Nevada Smith said to Augie, "Get me 50 clams right now." Augie dashed into the kitchen and spent the better part of an hour selecting fifty of the largest clams he and chef could find. After wrapping each clam separately, Augie returned to the dining room and presented the package with a big smile.

"What's this, a box lunch?" boomed the Nevada gent. "I asked for 50 clams — and that's money in any language but in a seafood restaurant."

D.A. Defends Decision to Take Bookie Case Before Grand Jury

District Attorney Keith C. Sorenson described himself today as "disappointed" in the editorial in The Times and Post accusing him of "pussyfooting" in the Alvin J. Prara bookmaking scandal.

His reaction, he said, was the same as it was to a remark made by Federal District Judge William T. Sweigart that "the absence of prosecution by the state is unbelievable and scandalous."

Judge Sweigert made the statement after he dismissed federal conspiracy charges against the San Mateo County sheriff's captain on the basis that no violation of federal law had been shown. The jurist declared, however, that "there is evidence here that they (Prara and a co-defendant) conspired to conceal a gambling operation."

Sorenson announced immediately that he would take the case back to the County Grand Jury and seek indictments, without naming those to be indicted. The first of a series of weekly hearings before the Grand Jury, to be held behind closed doors, is scheduled for Monday night. Sorenson said he expects the jury to act within a month.

The Times-Post editorial demanded that Sorenson bypass the jury in this case and bring the charges on his own hook, in order to clear up the scandal as quickly as possible. After reading the editorial, the district attorney commented that "no change in procedure is planned."

He made these remarks:

"This editorial reflects about as much knowledge of the history of the investigation as the notorious remarks of Judge Sweigert, which remarks touched off the whole hassle in the newspapers.

"Historically, the proper procedure when a criminal investigation concerns activities of public officers, grand juries have played an important role. In fact, this is one of their specific duties. But by the same token, they are authorized to conduct their investigations and hearings in secret in order first to insure that subsequent witnesses do not know what preceding ones have stated and can tailor their own testimony, but also in order to protect persons from the results of public accusations which do not reach the indictment stage.

"It has been my policy to recommend to grand juries that this procedure be followed in the interest of justice and fairness.

"Last year's grand jury worked long and hard on this investigation and heard many witnesses. Certain key witnesses were absolutely not available during any of last year to that grand jury or to my office. I so advised the grand jury and I advised them that the 1966 jury should resume the investigation at the earliest possible time and told them that that time would be upon completion of the federal court trial and told them why.

(James Brosnahan, special prosecutor in the federal court trial, said that two key witnesses, George C. Cunnings and Abe Fox, were kept under wraps by his office because their lives had been threatened and that they were not available for the San Mateo County investigation. Cunnings testified that he made payoffs to Prara and Fox, an undercover man for the Internal Revenue Service, told of payments that got to Prara's co-defendant, Joseph Farrell, a former San Francisco police inspector.)

"This has seemed to meet with the approval of both the 1965 and 1966 grand juries. I have not changed my intentions or plan of action and I don't intend to let the uninformed remarks of any jurist or newspaper change what still seems to be appropriate, even though others may be saying a great deal for public consumption, in my opinion action speaks louder than words and action has been and is being taken at the most expedient rate."

Sorenson said that after Judge Sweigert made the statement he was "very disappointed."

"I told him so," the district attorney said, "and he said he didn't understand the background of the matter and that he was confident that it was in good hands. This was related to newspaper reporters but it didn't serve to unring the bell."

SAN MATEO TIMES AND DAILY NEWS LEADER

● Here's an exciting way to figure out what you think the prices of groceries will be next week—and win cash and groceries while you are doing it. The Times will give the winner $25 in cash. However, if the winner is a regular, home-delivered subscriber, he or she will receive an extra bonus of $25, a total prize of $50 in cash. The winner also will be given $10 worth of groceries of his or her own choosing from each of the merchants listed above.

● Just write what you think will be the lowest advertised prices for the items (printed in the official entry blank) in any advertisement in next Wednesday's issue of The Times and Post. The person who has the most correct answers will be declared the winner. If more than one entry has the same number of correct answers, or if no entry contains any correct answers, then the person who picks the total closest to the actual total price of all items, will be declared the winner.

● Quality, quantity, brand, grade or size of a product must be advertised in terms of the units called for in the contest. For example, if three pounds of an article are advertised that price cannot be considered if the contest calls for the lowest advertised price of one pound. In the event an article is not advertised in the quantity called for in the contest, then only the remaining articles and their total will be considered for the contest. Advertised prices will not be considered if a coupon, minimum purchase or purchase of another article is required to buy that article at that price. This week's entries must be postmarked or received in The Times office not later than Friday midnight, Aug. 12, to be eligible. Entries must be addressed to Your Grocery List Editor, San Mateo Times, San Mateo, California.

NOTE: Employees or members of their immediate families of any food advertisers in next Wednesday's newspaper are not eligible to compete in this contest.

GENERAL RULES:

1. Anyone is eligible to enter the contest except employes of The Times or members of their families or other specifically exempted from a particular contest.
2. A contestant may submit as many entries as desired on the official entry blank printed in the newspaper, but only one, exact-sized hand-drawn facsimile of the official entry blank. No mechanically reproduced (printed, mimeographed, etc.) copies of the entry blank will be accepted, unless issued by The Times.
3. Entries may be attached to a postcard, mailed in an envelope or delivered by hand to the office of The Times.
4. An entry must reach the contest editor before the date specified. No entries received after that time, whether mailed or delivered by hand, will be declared eligible. The Times is not responsible for entries lost or delayed in the mail.
5. If more than one winning answer is received, the prizes will be divided equally among the winners.
6. The decision of the judges is final and all contestants agree to abide by the judge's decision. All entries become the property of The Times.
7. Only one prize per contest will be awarded to a family unit.
8. Entries must be mailed or delivered to the contest editor to be declared eligible. No entries can be returned. The answer to each contest will be printed in The Times within 14 or less days after the contest ends.
9. Regular subscribers who win will get a bonus equal to the amount of the cash prize.
10. Answers to the contests or winners will not be given out over the telephone. Winners will be notied by The Times.

HOW TO SUCCEED IN BUSINESS... BY TRYING
Some people never get to the top . . . because they never tried! But AAMCO TRIES . . . and AAMCO Distributors really TRY . . . and we succeed! Dozens of AAMCO Distributors make $25,000, $50,000 each year . . . if you want to TRY, you can, too!
Why do 250 AAMCO Distributors succeed . . . because they TRY the AAMCO success formula . . . proven AAMCO methods and they build a reputation of reliability in their community as they build their bank accounts.
Perhaps now is the time for you to TRY. To qualify for an AAMCO Distributorship, you must have a provable background, be able to invest at least $15,500 and be prepared to attend a four week management training class.
AAMCO can be your opportunity to succeed. Write or call.

*HERE'S HOW THE 5-YEAR OR 50,000-MILE ENGINE AND DRIVE WARRANTY PROTECTS YOU: Chrysler Motors Corporation warrants all of the following vital parts of cars imported by Chrysler for 5 years or 50,000 miles, whichever comes first, during which time any such parts that prove defective in material or workmanship will be replaced or repaired at an Authorized Sunbeam Dealer's place of business without charge for such parts or labor: engine block, head and internal parts, water pump, intake manifold, transmission case and internal parts (excluding manual clutch), driveshaft, universal joints, rear axle and differential, and rear wheel bearings. HERE'S ALL YOU MUST DO: Give your car this normal care—change engine oil every 3 months or 4,000 miles, whichever comes first; replace engine oil filter every second oil change; clean carburetor air filter every 6 months and replace it every 2 years; clean crankcase ventilator valve, and change transmission and axle lubricant every 6 months or 8,000 miles, whichever comes first; and every 6 months furnish evidence of this required service to Chrysler Motors Corporation Authorized Dealer and request him to certify receipt of such evidence and your car's mileage. This warranty shall not apply to cars subjected to racing or other sustained high speed use, acceleration trials or wide-open throttle operations, etc.
